TurboJET implements precautionary measures against the spread of Human Swine Influenza

(April 29, 2009 -- Hong Kong & Macau) In accordance with guidelines issued by the Department of Health pertaining to the prevention of Human Swine Influenza, TurboJET announced today that starting April 30, 2009, it will enforce various preventative measures to maintain a safe and hygienic environment in all vessels and facilities in order to let passengers know that their health is protected. Details of the measures are now posted on the company's website at www.turbojet.com.hk for the public's reference.

TurboJET will be closely monitoring the situation, and will immediately respond in accordance with guidelines issued by Marine Department, Port Health and related authorities on the prevention of the Influenza. As and when required, further contingency measures may be imposed to prevent the spreading of the virus and to ensure the health and safety of our passengers and crews.
