TurboJET Geared Up for Chinese New Year's Peak Travel Season
Unprecedented Sailing Frequency to Accommodate High Demand

(Jan 23, 2007 – Hong Kong & Macau) TurboJET is committed to constant improvements in quality standard and operational capacity in order to grow in parallel with Macau's booming tourism industry, as well as to lay solid foundations for the economic ties and synergistic cooperation across the PRD region. This year, in preparation for Chinese New Year, TurboJET is putting its resourceful network to full use, devising a series of special arrangements in response to the anticipated high demand of holiday travelers, offering passengers a high-standard ferry service between Hong Kong and Macau.

Forecasting record high sailings for Chinese New Year 2007

Following the completion of mega entertainment facilities, Macau is now one of the hottest tourist spots in Asia, receiving over 20 million in-bound tourists over year 2006. Extrapolating from this performance, it is expected that a large volume of travelers will be going to Macau via TurboJET over the forthcoming Chinese New Year.

As Asia's strongest high speed passenger fleet and a major means of transportation between Hong Kong and Macau, TurboJET has made every preparation in mobilizing its resourceful fleet, and is ready to dispatch over 300 sailings per day as deemed necessary to relieve the anticipated large demand, providing travelers with a pleasant and hassle-free journey over the joyous season.

Chinese New Year is traditionally the busiest season for travels between Hong Kong and Macau. During Chinese New Year 2006, TurboJET Hong Kong/Macau route achieved a record-breaking 282 sailings in a single day. Over Christmas and New Year 2006, the Hong Kong/Macau route also registered a significant increase of 20% in sailings, compared with the same period last year.

TurboJET

Asia's strongest high-speed ferry fleet closely connects Hong Kong, Macau and Shenzhen, the 3 major cities in the Pearl River Delta, providing quality service for travelers. As the only 24-hour passenger ferry operator in the world, TurboJET services Hong Kong and Macau every 15 minutes until midnight, offering on average 200 sailings per day. During peak season, the capacity of TurboJET can reach 280 sailings per day, serving 70,000 travelers.

TurboJET Sea Express

TurboJET Sea Express pioneered an inter-modal air-sea connecting network in the Pearl River Delta, interconnecting Hong Kong, Shenzhen and Macau airports, allowing passengers to travel with ease to every corner of the world. The service has been popular among business travelers since its inception in 2003.
